ABSTRACT

This webinar features the new book: Nurturing Ethics in Governance. Taming Our Rascals Within.

Our working, volunteer and political relationships are tempted every day by ethical dilemmas that challenge our governing truths. We are familiar with facing policy choices for standards of rural public service and investments in hard rural infrastructure, like building hospices or bridges, but often we forget the flipside of the policy that ensures a healthy rate of return from our decisions.

So, we need to talk about nurturing our ethics, about ways to invest with ever more robust ethics standards while recognizing inconsistencies in our ethical conduct. The Webinar ends on the substance of an ethics policy.

PANELISTS

Leonard P. Apedaile is Professor Emeritus at the University of Alberta. He has researched, lived, taught, and collaborated as an economist and agrologist in many countries.

Passionate about governance, agriculture and rural sustainability, Dr. Apedaile has also turned his attention to a philosophical inquiry into the meaning of ethics and nurturing ethical behaviour in governance.

Dr. Apedaile lives with Ella May on the family farm in Alberta, Canada, and served as a rural councilor and reeve in his area. He likes to run, feel and smell the soil, read philosophy, and write poetry. He is the author of the recently published book Nurturing Ethics in Governance: Taming Our Rascals Within which can be found at Audrey's Books or www.amazon.ca.
